New Mexico Indian Affairs Department Tobacco
Cessation and Prevention Program Notice of Funding
Availability is Now Open and Accepting Applications

SANTA FE – The New Mexico Indian Affairs Department (IAD) on Thursday announced that the Tobacco Cessation and Prevention Program (TCPP) Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) is now open and accepting applications for the 2022 Fiscal year.

The Indian Affairs Department receives an appropriation from the Tobacco Settlement Revenue Oversight Committee for Tobacco Cessation and Prevention Programs. The committee continues to fund the department to direct tobacco cessation and prevention campaigns in New Mexico tribal communities.

"The IAD continues to work closely with New Mexico Tribal governments and Native serving entities to ensure our Tribal communities continue to receive the funding they need in order to provide services and programs to their community members," said Secretary Lynn Trujillo. "We are proud to be able to fund these important projects that identify and address the needs of our tribal communities across the state."

The NOFA is now open and accepting applications until May 21, 2021, at 5:00 PM.
